Custom Home Building Process

The moment you dream of building a custom home and decide to make it a reality is when the custom home building process begins. Incorporating your lifestyle and ideas throughout the design process is what makes your home truly custom. Being a second generation company, our years of experience along with our commitment to service and attention to detail will be there to help you realize your dream every step of the way...

The process begins with an initial meeting, enabling you to meet and discuss your ideas with contractors that will personally be building your home. During this conference, two major considerations will be discussed. First, the location of your new home can either be a lot that you have purchased, or one that we have in inventory. And second, we will discuss floor plans and the adaptations that will be implemented to customize your home. At this point we can determine whether a stock plan would be ideal, or perhaps an appointment with an architect would be beneficial, to customize your every idea into actuality.

Once your custom home has been personalized and the lot has been chosen, we will accompany you through the financing and contracting phase, making this component effortless and straightforward.

Now, we are ready to start the building segment of your custom home. During the first weeks and months of the process, we will have several consultations to determine the unique items and custom options that you want to incorporate into your new home. You will meet one-on-one with our contractor to select items such as plumbing fixtures, paint colors, door styles and exterior elevation combinations, at a comfortable and enjoyable pace. In addition our contractors are always available for consultation in our design center or out on the building site, utilizing several walk-throughs of your home during the different construction phases.

In addition to the customizing touches our contractors will place in your home, we provide you the opportunity to work with our several talented designers in an atmosphere that allows you to explore your creative side. Imagine working with our designers to discover the perfect balance of color in your tile and carpet, design you new kitchen cabinets and appliances, and find the perfect light fixtures to set your house a-glow.

Province Building is a true custom builder. We welcome any new innovation you may discover and look forward to implementing them into your new home. By deciding to build your custom home with us, you not only receive the personal consideration we commit to you as the new homeowner, but also the attention to detail that will turn your selections and visions into a beautiful and personalized custom home.
